"BIOGRAPHY IS THE ONLY TRUE HISTORY."—Emerson.

CHICAGO:
The Lewis Publishing Company.
1896.

JOHN A. McGUIRE is now living a retired life in Comanche. He is so well kdown to the citizens of central Texas that he needs no special introduction to the readers of this volume. With the history of the county he has been closely identified since 1854, when he located within its borders and erected the first house within its present limits. He is to-day the oldest pioneer here, in years of continued residence, excepting only his father-in-law, who accompanied him on the removal to the Lone Star state.

Mr. McGuire was born in Iredell county, North Carolina, May 15, 1823, and comes of Scotch-Irish ancestry. His grandfather, John McGuire, was born on the Green Isle of Erin, whence he sailed for America, founding the family in North Carolina. He spent his last days in Iredell county, that state, and his wife, Anna McGuire, died in Bell county, Texas. Spencer McGuire, father of our subject, was born in Iredell county, September 4, 1804, and there grew to manhood. At the age of eighteen he married Sarah Burton, a native of North Carolina and daughter of Ed Burton, who was of Scotch lineage. To Mr. and Mrs. McGuire were born eight children, namely: John A., Wiley, Anna, Burton, Mary, Martin, Doc and Sarah. The father of this family followed the occupation of farming and died in Walker county, Georgia, at the early age of thirty-seven. In politics he was a Democrat of the Jackson school, and in religious belief was a Methodist.

Mr. McGuire, of this notice, spent his youthful days in his parents' home, and to some extent attended the common schools of the neighborhood. Reading and study in his leisure hours and the practical experience of life has made him a well informed man and he has a broad knowledge of the questions of the day.

On the 26th of October, 1846, Mr. McGuire chose as a companion and helpmeet on life's journey Miss Dicy Martin, an intelligent and estimable lady belonging to one of the old southern families. She was a sister of H. R. Martin, the president of the First National Bank of Comanche, and a daughter of Henry Martin, who is numbered among the honored pioneers of central Texas. In 1851 Mr. McGuire left Georgia and accompanied by his family removed to Bell county, Texas, where he remained until the fall of 1854, when he came to Comanche county and settled on the farm now occupied by Thomas Homesley. He remained in the county for thirteen years, and in 1866 went to Benton county, Arkansas, where he remained for three years. He then sold his property there and returned to this county, settling on Rush creek, where he made one of the best farms in the county. He now has three farms, aggregating fifteen hundred acres, of which four hundred acres are under cultivation. This is rich bottom land, well adapted for the raising of corn and cotton, and the excellent crops which he harvests are to him a profitable source of income. He has upon his land twelve tenement houses and other improvements in the way of outbuildings, machinery and fences, all of which indicate his careful supervision. In addition to his other property he has also given one hundred and sixty acres of land to each of his children, thus enabling them to avoid many of the difficulties which must be met if one starts in life empty-handed.

By his first marriage Mr. McGuire had twelve children, ten of whom are living, namely: Sarah E., E. Anna, William, Henry, John E., Jesse, Emily, Martha, James and Lucy. Amanda and Elizabeth are both deceased. The mother of this family died June 25, 1883. She was a devoted and affectionate wife and mother, a kind neighbor and a most estimable lady, beloved by all who knew her. Mr. McGuire's second wife bore the maiden name of May Evans, and her death occurred in 1887. In 1888 our subject wedded Mrs. Martha Hairston, a widow, and they have a daughter, named Ruby.

In his political views Mr. McGuire is a stalwart Democrat, and is recognized as one of the leading members of his party in Comanche county. He was elected sheriff of the county in 1860 and served in that capacity for four years, a brave officer, never flinching in the face of the sternest duty. He was also county commissioner for six years and school superintendent for four years, discharging his duties with a promptness and fidelity that won him high commendation. Socially he is a Royal Arch Mason. Mr. McGuire has rounded the Psalmist's span of threescore years and ten, but a kindly use of those powers which nature bestowed upon him, both mental and physical, leaves him to-day a well preserved man. Frank and genial in manner he has many friends, and over the record of his life there falls no shadow of wrong.

Ralph Shelton, Jr., was born 23 Oct 1709 in Middlesex Co., VA. He died 1789 in Henry Co., VA. His wife Mary Daniel was baptized 07 March 1712/13 to William Daniel and Mary Moseley. Click here to visit the DANIEL page. Ralph and Mary married 10 Jun 1731 in Middlesex Co., VA. In 1745, Ralph Shelton, Jr. owned 400 acres in Amelia Co., VA. Some researchers believed his name was spelled SKELTON on some deeds, but other researchers say all the written records show SHELTON. Ken Shelton, who wrote The Shelton Trek Across Kentucky, The History of the Jeremiah Shelton Family of Kentucky and Missouri said that Ralph was mentioned in his mother's will written in Amelia Co., VA., and he probably lived near her at this time. His parents were Ralph Shelton, Sr. and Mary Jane ?Crispin/Crisp? of Middlesex Co., VA. By 1763, Ralph Shelton, Jr. had moved to Halifax Co., VA and he was in Henry Co., VA when it was formed in 1776/77. Ralph and his son Eliphaz are buried in the same cemetery. Ken wrote that Ralph listed 17 children in his will. There is also a belief that there was an Ebenezer Shelton who was Ralph's son. There is an Ebenezer on the 1800 Tax rolls of Kentucky, and he is in Butler Co., KY along with Jeremiah Shelton, Ralph & Mary Daniel Shelton's son and my ancestor, but no other records were found for this Ebenezer.

Comments:

An interesting product, and it does work pretty well, even in the cavernous confines of New York City streets. The only drawback: it takes a good deal of time to get the device to find a satellite. While probably a very useful tool in the woods and other outdoor areas, it may prove to offer a smaller benefit in indoor areas such as a large indoor mall or parking complex.

The GPS Homing Device.

This is the simplest portable GPS locating device available, ideal for finding your car after shopping or your hotel after a day of touring in an unfamiliar city. Simply push a button when you leave your car or a hotel and the device marks the location and points the way back. Half the size of a cell phone, the compact receiver fits easily on a keychain, in a pocket, or in a purse. Unlike typical GPS units that are highly complex, this one only has two buttons: one for switching your compass mode, another for setting up to three starting points. It uses an advanced GPS receiver chipset that provides a high degree of accuracy—within five yards—in urban canyons or heavily forested environments. It counts down the distance (in yards, miles, meters, or kilometers) as you approach your starting point and its self-calibrating digital compass displays your heading in degrees and indicates direction with an easy-to-read arrow. A backlight button illuminates the display for easy reading in low light conditions. It also remembers your waypoints when powered off. Best in outdoor conditions. Weather resistant. Requires two AAA batteries. 3 1/4" L x 2" W x 3/4" D. (2 oz.)

The How To Listen To Classical Music Tutor.

This is the instructive media collection that helps music novices and experts alike fully appreciate classical masterpieces. Produced by Discovery Orchestra, an organization dedicated to helping listeners grasp subtlety in great music, the lessons on these discs combine recorded performances of famous works with printable listening guides and interactive exercises. The result is a better understanding of the mechanics of a piece, so listeners can identify themes, notice instrumentation, and reflect on tonal intricacy they might have never appreciated without study. Totalling four hours of music, the DVDs comprise one movement apiece from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony and Bach's Brandenberg's Concerto No. 4, as well as the entirety of Vivaldi's Four Seasons. Includes companion CD so music-lovers can listen to the music in other venues and continue their own discoveries.

Lifetime Guarantee

The How To Listen To Classical Music Tutor comes with The Hammacher Schlemmer Lifetime Guarantee at no additional charge. If this product ever disappoints you, for any reason, you may return your Hammacher Schlemmer purchase for exchange, credit, or refund.

Comments:

I charged up the jumper pack when i got it. One thing the description doesn't mention which is a great selling point, it that the instructions say you can jump 20 cars with 1 charge!

I put this to the test, jumping 5 vehicles in a day, and the battery indicator was still full. 2 vehicles were fully dead, the others not started for weeks.

Very impressed with the battery technology these days.

Comments:

It lives in my pocket! When I am in a strange area, either in a strange city or the North Maine Woods, I mark my starting point. I then shut it off and enjoy what I'm doing without having to worry about being able to find my way back It always remembers your last saved point and even has two more if you want to find your way back to somewhere else besides your starting point.

SHELBY'S OLDEST RESIDENT PASSES AWAY AT SALEM

Funeral services were held at Salem Sunday at 11 a.m. for Mrs. CELINA BUTTS, 101 years of age, who died at the home of Jodie Wheeler, a son-in-law with whom she lived. Death followed a short illness. Funeral services were under the direction of the Mangum Undertaking Company with the Rev. J. M. Sigler officiating. The deceased is survived by three brothers. Mack, Eli, and Jim W. Webb. One sister, Mrs. Jennie McDonald of Nacogdoches county, also survives. Mrs. Butts was one of the most colorful figures in the history of East Texas. Her romantic story begins with her advent into Texas as a six week's old infant in 1834. Her father, Merideth Webb, was one of the pioneers who settled at Shelbyville when Texas was still a province of Mexico. A vivid panorama of history ranging from conflicts with Indians through the War for Texas Independence, the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish American War and the World War, have passed before her eyes and have been a part of her experience. Shelby County's story has been an open book to her. Mrs. Butts was first married to John Hamm who died soon after the close of the Civil War in which he took part. His death was due to the hardships undergone during the war. Later she was married to Andrew Butts, who died in 1914. She has been a member of the church at Salem for 69 years and has lived in the same community for a longer time. Mrs. Webb was acitve in her work about the place until the age of 95 when her sight became impaired. She gave up the active pursuit of housekeeping and went to live with ther daughter. The funeral service was attended by a host of friends and relatives.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER HAM (BILL)
AND
MARGRETT EMELY (MARTIN) HAM

Members of the family of William Alexander Ham, Sr. (Bill), always stated that Bill was born in Tennessee on the Duck River. The Duck River branches off the Tennessee River in Humphries County and flows eighty one miles, snaking through Hickman, Marshall and Muary Counties. Then the river wanders through Bedford County passing through the town of Shelbyville, ending at the Normandy Lake just inside Coffee County. He could have been born along this river at any point, because records do not seem to exist to give us an exact location. However, because Bill's father, Joel W. Ham probably met and married Nancy Gilbert, Bill's mother in Shelbyville in Bedford County, Tennessee, it is more likely Bill was born at or near Shelbyville.

When William Alexander Ham, Sr. (Bill) was about four years old, in December 1837, his father, Joel W. Ham moved the family to San Augustine County, Texas. They later moved to Shelby County, Texas, where they were living in 1850. Bill was 17, and a farmer at the time. Later he became a stockraiser, and a carpenter, nevertheless, only "farmer" was indicated on census reports throughout the years. On a tax report in 1873, Comanche County, Texas, it was recorded that Bill owned 112 cattle and one horse, proving he did raise cattle. This would verify what the family has passed down over the years. Early in Texas History, cattle roamed wild over the whole area. Texans soon learned to gather them, operating cattle ranches, instead of farms. Is this the way Bill became in procession of his herd? The answer to that is "probably". There were to many free head of cattle for a Texan of that day to buy them. Cattle meant wealth to the Texan if he drove them to the right location to sell, thus the cattle drives come into being. The first brand recorded in the county was recorded by Bill's wife's (Margrett) brother-in-law, Kin (Kenneth McKinzie) on 02 June 1856.

Bill (William Alexander Ham, Sr.) met young Margrett Emely Martin, daughter of Henry R. Martin, Sr. and Eleanor (Dooley) Martin, either in Texas or Louisiana. We know that the Joel W. Ham family moved to Louisiana after the census was taken in 1850, and before the registering of the 1860 Census Report. Whether or not their son, William Alexander Ham, Sr. (Bill) went with them to Louisiana before his marriage, is not known. The young pair were married on 22 January 1852, when Margrett was less than fifteen and a half years old. Just what happened next in their lives we are not sure, but we do know that William Alexander Ham, Sr. (Bill) and his brother-in-law Henry R. Martin, Jr. were the first two settlers on Sweetwater Creek, in Comanche County, Texas. The exact date of their arrival in Comanche County is not known, but family data tells us their first daughter, Margrett Josephine was born at Sweetwater Creek District, Comanche County, Texas on 12 April 1856. She was born in the same cabin as the rest of the children, per-data from family. It is believed that the couple arrived with or about the time as the B.J. Holmsleys family (they were friends), F.M Collier, Joseph Hicks, Jesse Mercer, F.N. Neely families and others in 1853. We do know that Henry R. Martin, Jr. didn't arrive with his family in Comanche until 1859.

Stories of Henry R. Martin, Jr. have him visiting his father, Henry R. Martin, Sr., in Bell County in 1853. Could it be that Henry, Jr. stopped to see his younger sister, Margrett Emely (Martin) Ham in Western Louisiana or Eastern Texas, on his way to traveled with him on his journey to the frontier. Bill and Margrett might have also moved to Bell County with Henry R. Martin, Sr., but we have no prove of either. Upon arrival of the young Henry at Henry, Sr.'s, home in Bell County, Texas, Henry, Jr. and Bill might have traveled to the Sweetwater Creek District, in Comanche County, and laid claim to the land. The same year Bill and Margrett must have moved to their new home. This would give the reason why, William Alexander Ham, Sr. (Bill) legally, later claimed to having been in the area of Comanche County, Texas since 1853. William and Margrett Ham are on the 1860 Census Report for Louisiana. It's believed they were visiting Bill's parents. Bill (William Alexander Ham, Sr.) was in Comanche, Comanche County, Texas in 1858 and 1859, because he felled the first tree used in building the first Court House in the town of Comanche, which was started in 1858 and finished in 1859. That Court House was called the "picket house". The logs were cut and split on the site, and set vertically in a ditch, and then covered with the boards also made on the site. The "Picket House" burned down in March of 1862. Only District Court Records and Deeds were saved from the fire. The population of the county of Comanche in 1860 was only 90 men, women and children. However, another source states there were only 61 people in the Comanche area.

Bill's and Margrett's first daughter, Margrett Josephine Ham (Jo), born on 12 April 1856, in the cabin built by Bill, lived, romped, played, laughed, cried, ate, and slept with her other brother's and sister's all their young lives. Margrett gave birth to eleven children:

Margrett Josephine married a school teacher, and after the birth of three of their six children, moved to Amarillo, Texas. The couple lived out the remainder of their lives there.

John Daniel married, had two children, and opened the first lumber yard in De Leon. John served as bank director, and he and his socialite wife lived out their lives in De Leon, Texas.

Nancy Ellen, who was named after her two grandmothers, died when she was just under four years old.

William Alexander, Jr., married, had three children, and lost his young wife. He moved away from his home in Comanche.

Joel Henry, named after his two grandfathers, married and had at least nine children. He fought in the Spanish - American War, 1895 - 1898. He left Comanche, also.

James Edward died just nine days after his birth. His resting place is unknown.

Martha Jane married and had one boy, but she died at the age of twenty two. Martha is buried at Suggs cemetery in Comanche, Comanche County, Texas.

Thomas Franklin married and lived on the land owned by his father and mother. His wife, Mary gave birth to seven children, six of who lived to maturity. Tom was a farmer and a carpenter. The couple lived their lives out in Los Angeles County in California.

George Dallas (this author's grandfather) married, Mary Lorene Gibbs. They had twelve children, who all lived to adulthood. However, they lost their oldest son in World War I. George moved his family away from Comanche several times only to return. George had a green thumb, but he didn't like farming. He worked as a weigh master for many large farms when he wasn't putting in a crop of something or other for himself. The last time he left he moved to Puducah, Cottle County, Texas, then to Colorado, back to Clarendon, Texas, and then in 1932 most of his family moved to the San Diego, California area. Three of the couples children and several or their grandchildren joined the armed forces during World War II. George and Mary lived their lives out in El Cajon, a town just outside of San Diego.

Luther Edgar died when he was about eleven and a half years old.

Charles David their youngest child never married, he worked hard, and finally moved to Burkburnett, Texas where he worked, and at forty two died.

The creek near where Bill built their log cabin, was called Sweetwater Creek, because of the sweet taste of the water. Just who named the creek is not known, but it was named by the pioneers of the county in the early years. Maybe Bill or Margrett gave it it's name, since they were the only ones living near the creek at that time. It was called the Sweetwater District for years, before Districts became Precincts. Bill being a good carpenter, made all the furniture for the Ham's first home in the Comanche area. As time passed, and the need for more furniture presented itself, he continued to create nice pieces. This leaves us to wonder if he might have made furniture for some of his fellow settlers. One piece of his work, a desk, is still in the family. It's been transferred from creator, William Alexander Ham, Sr. (Bill) to Bill's son, George Dallas Ham, to George's daughter, Freida (Ham) Pool, then to Freida's niece, Willie Lee (Ham) Salisbury-Brown (Herbert Reed Ham's daughter) and to Willie's son, Randy Steven Salisbury, who is in procession of it in the year, 1993. This desk, that was used by Bill's and Margrett's children for school work is still in great shape.

In the first years of settlement the pioneers build their homes out of scrub oaks they cut for lumber, because the closest milled lumber was in Coryell County about 60 or so miles away. Most of the supplies needed to maintain life in the frontier had to be shipped in. The log cabin Bill built for his family was the Ham family home for a long time (called the "Homestead"). All the children were raised in this first structure. Later another house was built, and the log cabin was eventually torn down. The last home built was still standing in 1987. At that time the land and house was owned by a Walter G. Mazurek family. William Alexander Ham, Sr. (Bill) had 1/2 section of land (320 acres) granted to him by the government. The land was divided among the children. Each child received 40 acres and a house. Each of the children sold, at different times, their 40 acres to the oldest son, John Daniel Ham. John left the land to his two children, James Ottis Ham and Willie Vei (Ham) Stockman, when he died.

Most of Margrett's family also moved to the Comanche County area about the same time. Names of members of the families were Ham, Martin, McGuire, McKinzie, and Neil. Life wasn't easy for the settlers that moved to this new area which in the 1850's and 1860's was definitely the "Wild and Woolly West". There were wild animals like bear, panther, deer, wild pig, antelope, buffalo and cattle, and unfriendly Indians roaming free through the forests, and out on the prairie. Comanche County is about 1350 feet above sea level all over the county, except in the southwest corner were it climbs to 1850 feet. Once it was level limestone plain drained by ancient rivers, and the land was created when it rose from the drainage of the ancient Comanche Sea. The soil was rich, and well suited for farming.

Comanche County was created out of Bosque and Coryell Counties. The pioneers generated the small community of Cora, which was located in the Southeast part of Comanche County on the North bank of the South Leon River. Later it was known as the Pettit community, but in 1987 little remained. Devoted individuals interested in the progress of their County built a court house with their own hands. Men like John A. McGuire, Henry R. Martin, Sr., T.C. Frost, John P. Pettit were among the many who helped. Cora served as the County Seat. Three terms of District Court were held in Little Cora, as the court house was later called. There were trials held for theft and murder. Indictments took place for crimes such as unlawfully playing cards, drinking of alcohol on Sunday, having a pistol on his person, rudely displaying a pistol in a public place, seriously threatening to take the life of another, disturbing a congregation gathered for religious worship, and etc. The little court house was full of various activities that were taking place, but it stood strong. In order to save "Little Cora" years after the county seat was moved to the town of Comanche, concerned citizens had "Little Cora" moved to a hill overlooking Lake Eanes and the park. In 1987 it was sitting on the town square in front of the latest court house, and next to the historical "Fleming Tree", the only old tree left on the town square. This tree remained, because with rifle in hand, Mr. Fleming would not allow the tree to be cut down. He said, "that tree had saved his life as a boy, from the Indians.

The above story is one that is the most appealing to one's emotions. However, it's not true. In the year 1854, before Comanche was a town, Mart Fleming first visited the county with his father. At the time, where the court house stands today, was a postoak grove. It was summer so Mart Fleming slept under what is now the famous "Fleming Tree". As the years passed it was used by Mart Fleming and others to tie up their horses.

Many years later, about 1911, when the paving of the Square was started, all the trees were ordered to be cut down. With the threat of using his "No. 10's", which the workmen thought was a 10-guage shotgun, they left the tree standing. Later"Uncle Mart" as he was fondly called at the time, confessed that he wouldn't have shot anyone. He had only meant he would have used his size 10 boots on them.

He came again to the defense of his tree in 1919, when talk was once more spread that the tree should be removed. After these unknowing citizens learned the history of the tree, it remained. When in his 80's Uncle Mart was quoted as saying, "They since have paid due respect to the old live oak". Today "his tree" remains, and the Citizens of Comanche are highly pleased when they see or point out this "Living Memorial" of their earliest heritage.

The new town of Comanche was formed when part of Comanche County was given to create the County of Hamilton. John Duncan gave 240 acres of land on the Indian Creek for the City of Comanche in 1858. The land sits in the middle of the county, and made a good site for the County Seat. The Commissioner's Court accepted Mr. Duncan's offer of the land, and the town was established in 1858. The first courthouse was then built.

The Indians made life miserable for the first settlers, because this was a favorite spot of the Indians. There were plenty of wild animals, berries, nuts, fruits and honey from the "bee trees" to provide food for the tribes. They considered this area their domain. They didn't want to share it with the white man, although they didn't make this a permanent home. The tribes wondered over a year in a large area from Kansas to the North into Northern Mexico to the South. At first the warriors try to scare, intimidate, steal the horses, and scatter the livestock of these intruders. There were so few settlers in the area, and this isolation made it very easy for the Indians to ride in, and steal the settler's horses. These were Kiowa and Comanche Indians. The Comanche Indians had always measured their wealth in horses. The horses were used to trade with the Northern Indians. Later the killing of the settlers began, when the Indians decided they couldn't chase the white man away by taking their horses and livestock. Indian raids continued in Comanche County from its early settlement in 1856, until 1875, when the federal troops rounded up the last few bands of renegades and placed them on a reservation at Fort Sill, Oklahoma under military control.

Another brother-in-law, John A. McGuire built a make shift fort on the Indian Creek near Cora, for the people to gather when the Indians started their raids. On one such occasion, Margrett's two sister's husbands were holding off the Indians until everyone could get to the fort. Mary A. (Martin) McKinzie's husband, Kenneth McKinzie was wounded seriously, his brother and Nancy E. (Martin) McKinzie's husband, James went to help him. James was also wounded, but the two brother made it to the fort. Kenneth hung on all night in terrible pain, but in the morning he passed away. James lived through his ordeal, but unhappily was an invalid all the rest of his life. On another occasion Mary A. (Martin) McKinzie's youngest son, John D. McKinzie, Sr. was captured by the Indians, but he was returned the same day. There is no record as to why they returned him. After Kenneth's death the Indians took all of Mary's stock. Mary married two years later to a man named Jenkins, and they moved to Arkansas. After the threat of the Indians ended the couple returned to Comanche.

The word "Comanche" is the Spanish spelling of the Ute Indian word Komantcia, which meant "enemy" or "one always wanting to fight". A Comanche is a North American plains Indian of Shoshonean stock, who ended in reservations, because they couldn't get along with others.

One Indian story that has remained with the Ham family is about Margrett Emely (Martin) Ham. For their protection the homesteaders made up shopping lists, and only one or two men would go for supplies for everyone in the area. Shopping could take days instead of an hour like it does today. On one occasion when Bill (William Alexander Ham, Sr.) was taking his turn on the journey for supplies, he had to leave his family home alone. After running out of water in the cabin, Margrett decided to gather up the children and go to the creek for a nice fresh pail of water. They were having a nice stroll along the trail in the warm sunshine, when Margrett noticed to her dismay feathers sticking in and out among the brushes along the path. She calmly gathered her children close to her, telling them not to act afraid. Then she continued on to the creek. After filling her pail with the cool water, the small group started back along the same path to the cabin. As they passed an Indian he would fall in behind Margrett and her tiny, very frighten babies. As she moved along more and more of the red men followed staying only a short distant behind them. At the cabin, Margrett put the children in the middle of her bed, and quietly ordered them to stay there. She then turned to face the red men who had followed her into her home with their dirty dogs. With sign language the Indians demanded food. She cooked for the gathering in her spotless home, and held her tongue while she watched them eat with their hands, throwing her prized dishes around, breaking some, and feeding their dogs on her spotless floor.

Much later, after filling their stomachs, to her relief the Indians left, without hurting her or the children (It may be possible that the Indians were Kiowa instead of Comanche). However, her anger at the savages disregard of her home and skimpy belongings bothered her more than anything else did. She cleaned everything with a passion, and last the floor was washed with lye. Only then would she allow herself to rest, and relieve the pressure with tears. Her children remember her as a perfectionist, a very clean perfectionist.

The frontier women were strong and brave ladies. Another story that has traveled through the family showed Margrett as strong, quick thinking, brave and full of life. As a young girl, Margrett was sent on an errand quite a distance from where she lived in Murray County, Georgia, where she grew up. After completing her assigned duty, she swung back onto her horse and headed for home. Much to her distress, and a long two miles from her destination, she encountered a hungry, mean looking cougar. Not wasting any time, she urged her horse into a run. The horse was as anxious as Margrett to get away from this large, wild American cat. However, with the speed this animal possessed it wasn't long until the cat had gained on the frightened pair. Margrett was wearing her favorite hat, but she yanked it from her head, and with all her might she flung it over her shoulder. Detaining this unwelcome traveling companion was her only thought. To her delight the cougar stopped to sniff her pretty head cover. The last she saw of her prized possession the cougar was ripping it to threads. The horse gained only a short distance, and soon the cougar's long strides had him close behind again. Margrett's sweater was the next article of distraction. Her quick thinking in discarding her personal items made it possible for her to arrive home safely. The strip tease probably saved her life.

The Civil War put a stop to the migration into Comanche County. Most of the men who moved to Texas were from the South, so they left to join the confederate army. This left only a few men to defend themselves and their homes against the Indians. In the spring of 1861 Indians came into the County, and stole every horse, which left the settlers without even teams to prepare the fields for crops. They scattered the livestock, and began killing men, women and children. Five wagonloads of flour accompanied by armed guards from Bell County were the only thing that saved the people of Comanche County from starvation. The Martins had many relatives in Bell County, but we can not document who it was that organized the flour delivery into the area. The

Another brother-in-law, John A. McGuire built a make shift fort on the Indian Creek near Cera, for the people to gather when the Indians started their raids. On one such occasion, Margaret's two sister's husbands were holding off the Indians until everyone could get to the fort. Mary A. (Martin) McKinzie's husband, Kenneth McKinzie was wounded seriously, his brother and Nancy E. (Martin) McKinzie's husband, James went to help him. James was also wounded, but the two brother made it to the fort. Kenneth hung on all night in terrible pain, but in the morning he passed away. James lived through his ordeal, but unhappily was an invalid all the rest of his life. On another occasion Mary A. (Martin) McKinzie's youngest son, John C. McKinzie, Jr. was captured by the Indians, but he was returned the same day. There is no record as to why they returned him. After Kenneth's death the Indians took all of Mary's stock. Mary married two years later to a man named Jardine, and they moved to Arkansas. After the threat of the Indians ended the couple returned to Comanche.

The word "Comanche" is the Spanish spelling of the Ute Indian word Komantcia, which means "enemy" or "one always wanting to fight". A Comanche is a North American plains Indian of Shoshonean stock, who ended in reservations, because they couldn't get along with others.

One Indian story that has remained with the Rea family is about Margaret Emily (Martin) Rea. For basic protection the homesteaders made up scouting lists, and only one or two men would go for supplies for everyone in the area. Shopping could take days instead of an hour like it does today. On one occasion when Bill (William Alexander Rea, Sr.) was taking his turn on the journey for supplies, he had to leave his family home alone. After running out of water in the cabin, Margaret decided to gather up the children and go to the creek for a nice fresh pail of water. They were having a nice stroll along the trail to the wash in the sunshine, when Margaret noticed in her [illegible] feathers sticking in and out among the branches along the path. She calmly gathered her children close to her, telling them not to act afraid. Then she continued on to the creek. After filling her pail with the cool water, the small group started back along the same path to the cabin. As they passed an Indian he would fall in behind Margaret and her tiny, very frighten babies. As she moved along more and more of the red men followed staying only a short distant behind them. At the cabin, Margaret sat the children in the middle of her bed, and quietly ordered them to stay there. She then turned to face the red men who had followed her into her home with their dirty feet. With sign language the Indians demanded food. She cooked for the gathering in her spotless home, and held her tongue while she watched them eat with their hands, throwing her prized dishes around, breaking some, and leaving their mess on her spotless floor.

Much later, after filling their stomachs, to her relief the Indians left, without harming her or the children. (It may be possible that the Indians were Kiowa instead of Comanche). However, her anger at the savages disregard of her home and [illegible] belongings bothered her more than anything else did. She cleaned everything with a passion, and cost the floor was washed with lye. Only then would she allow herself to rest, and relieve the pressure with tears. Her children remember her as a perfectionist, a very clean perfectionist.

The frontier women were strong and brave ladies. Another story that has traveled through the family showed Margaret as strong, quick thinking, brave and full of life. As a young girl, Margaret was sent on an errand quite a distance from where she lived in Marion County, Georgia, where she grew up. After completing her business duty, she mounted back onto her horse and headed for home. Back in her [illegible], and a long two miles from her destination, she encountered a hungry, mean looking cougar. Not wasting any time, she urged her horse into a run. The horse was as anxious as Margaret to get away from this large, wild American cat. However, with the speed this animal possessed it wasn't long until the cat had gained on the frightened pair. Margaret was wearing her favorite hat, but she yanked it from her head, and with all her might she flung it over her shoulder. Deterring this unwelcome traveling companion was her only thought. To her delight the cougar stopped to sniff her pretty head cover. The last she saw of her prized possession the cougar was ripping it to shreds. The horse gained only a short distance, and soon the cougar's long strides had him close behind again. Margaret's sweater was the next article of distraction. This left only a few men to defend themselves and their homes against the Indians. In the spring of 1863 Indians came into the County, and stole every horse, which left the settlers without work teams to prepare the fields for crops. They scattered the livestock, and began killing men, women and children. Five wagonloads of flour accompanied by armed guards from Bell County were the only thing that saved the people of Comanche County from starvation. The Martins had many relatives in Bell County, but we can not document who it was that organized the flour delivery into the area. The threat from the Indians grew between the years of 1863 and 1866, and many families moved away.

Many of the settlers hunted wild hogs, and sold them to near by communities. The Texas Longhorn were everywhere, so the settlers drove them to Louisiana for supplies. In order to farm or ranch, settlers had to clear the land of trees and stumps. This was called "Patch" farming. It provided for the settlers needs, but left only a small amount of harvested goods for selling. Roads were few, and during the rainy season the trails would soon have themselves covered with overgrowth again. This meant there was very little commerce in those early years.

Life was hard, but these strong individuals survived, and Comanche grew. Comanche became the supply center for Texas farms and ranches. The town was incorporated in 1873. By 1874 Comanche was the model of a Cowman and Rancher's town, with a population of about one thousand people. Comanche had seven saloons, and the men found relaxation in card games, horse racing and billiards. The women kept themselves busy with household duties, raising children, church socials and quilting bees.

Comanche had it's outlaws, as well, with the most noted being John Wesley Hardin. John Wesley's father was a Comanche Minister, and was held in high regard by the citizens of Comanche. He was thoroughly devoted to religion. He had another son, Joe Hardin who was a practicing lawyer in town.

In 1874, John Wesley Hardin and his friend Jim Taylor appeared in Comanche with a string of race horses. They were wanted for murder in De Witt County at the time, and every Texas Ranger was on the look out for them. After their arrival the pair continued their crime spree by stealing stock from various ranches in Comanche and neighboring Brown County. On a raid on the William's Ranch in Brown County, John Wesley's identity was discovered by Sheriff Charlie Webb.

A few days later a horse racing meet was scheduled, and some of the outlaws horses were to run. Sheriff Webb reckoned this was a good time to appear in town. After winning large sums of money on the races, Hardin and Taylor got very drunk as they made their rounds of the saloons. Friends warned Hardin that Webb was town, but Hardin wouldn't listen. At the saloon on the northwest corner of the square in the town of Comanche there was a shot out. Before Brown County, Sheriff Charlie Webb could draw his gun Hardin shot him four times. After a stop at Hardin's father's house, the outlaws left town.

At the same time this was going on same Texas Rangers who had been camped at historical "Ranger Springs" east of Comanche came into town and arrested Joe Hardin, Aleck Barrickman, and Anderson. They were jailed in temporary quarters in a house on the northeast corner of the square, because a new courthouse was being built at the time. Guards were posted around the accomplices. About three hundred men from Comanche and Brown Counties rode into the square around two o'clock in the morning. After disarming the guards the mob took the trio three miles southwest of Comanche and hanged them.

It wasn't until 1877 that John Wesley Hardin was arrested by a Texas Ranger in Florida. He was brought to Austin, Texas and jailed. Six Texas Rangers from Company E were sent to bring Hardin back to Comanche. He was tried and sentenced to prison for twenty-five years, at the penitentiary at Huntsville. Hardin served part of his term and then was pardoned. In an El Paso saloon Hardins life as a feared desperado ended. Shot by a lawman.

Bill was an active Mason or Freemason, and worked on their projects. The school system of Comanche was established in early 1871. The Police Court organized the county into five school districts on 30 January 1871. At the same time the Police Court was acting, Comanche Masonic Lodge No. 316 was also preparing for the education of Comanche's youth. In the spring of 1871 the lodge purchased ground for the building of a school, and the following spring construction was begun. The building was occupied in the fall of 1872. The first board of trustees, all members of Comanche Lodge No. 316 was composed of J.M. Holmsley, Albert Sowell, P.W. Gravis, Nathan Yarbrough, and James G. Hardin. It was Peter Gravis that was the connecting link between the Masonic Lodge and the county in establishing education in Comanche.

Thanks to the love, care and hard work of Margrett and Bill, except for three children who died young, the rest of their children grew up to be good citizens, married, had children of their own to carry on the Ham line.

Bill (William Alexander Ham, Sr.) died 21 October 1893, in Comanche, Comanche County, Texas not far from the home he craved out of the old West. He had gone into the woods or forest to cut wood for the family use, just like he had done so many times before. When in three days he hadn't returned home, a search party was formed to look for him. It was feared that something bad had happened to him. He was found leaning against a tree trunk, where he had leaned to rest from his labors, Bill died of a heart attack. He was carried back home, and then buried at the Suggs Cemetery, not far from the family farm.

Margrett lived in her home that Bill had built for her for years after his death. However, Margrett showed up in the 1910 census living in the home of her oldest son, John, in De Leon, Comanche County, Texas. When her son, George Dallas Ham sold his home and land to his brother, John in about 1914, and moved to Delwin, on Buck Creek, near Paducah, Cottle County, Texas, Margrett went with the family. There she lived out her life, dying on 01 January 1916. George took his mother back home to Comanche by train, and buried her beside her husband of 41 years.

SHELBY'S OLDEST RESIDENT
PASSES AWAY AT SALEM

Reprinted from Center Daily News
Dated Monday, November 4, 1935

Funeral services were held at Salem Sunday at I I a.m. for Mrs. Celina Butts, 101 years of age, who died at the home of Jodie Wheeler, a son in-law with whom she lived. Death followed a short illness.

Funeral services were under the direction of the Mangum Undertaking Company with the Rev. J. M. Sigler officiating. The deceased is survived by three brothers. Mack, Eli, and Jim W. Webb. One sister, Mrs. Jennie McDonald of Nacogdoches County, also survives.

Mrs. Butts was one of the most colorful figures in the history of East Texas. Her romantic story begins with her advent into Texas as a six week's old infant in 1834. Her father, Merideth Webb, was one of the pioneers who settled at Shelbyville when Texas was still a province of Mexico. A vivid panorama of history ranging from conflicts with Indians through the War for Texas Independence, the Mexican War, the Civil War, the Spanish American War and the World War, have passed before her eyes and have been a part of her experience. Shelby County's story has been an open book to her.

Mrs. Butts was first married to John Hamm who died soon after the close of the Civil War in which he took part. His death was due to the hardships undergone during the war. Later she was married to Andrew Butts, who died in 1914. She has been a member of the church at Salem for 69 years and has lived in the same community for a longer time.

Mrs. Webb was active in her work about the place until the age of 95 when her sight became impaired. she gave up the active pursuit of housekeeping and went to live with her daughter.

The funeral service was attended by a host of friends and relatives.

The following article appeared in "The Champion Newspaper" where she is shown on the front page celebrating her birthday. This is copied from the book "Webb-Lucas Genealogy"by Velma Glenn.

SHELBY WOMAN CELEBRATES 100th BIRTHDAY
By John W. Lynch.- 1934

Late in the month of November, in the year 1834, a dusty little wagon caravan lumbered into Shelbyville, thriving community of the Mexican Province of Texas. And a stocky open-faced man climbed down from the tired horse that had paced. the long arduous way from Tennessee.

"I reckon we're heah". he drawled. "Hand me the baby Charlotta, you climb down. The transfer was made and the pale-faced girlmother joined her husband in the dusty road, while from the rear of the wagon a robust youth holding another infant in swaddling clothes and behind him came another boy and a girl.

Seven pioneering souls they were sturdy, rugged, undaunted in the face of rigorous winters, hostile savages, imposing mountains and impenetrable forests, and strict Mexican immigration laws raised against white settlers following Stephen F. Austin's colonization foray back in 1822.

"Yo! all wait here, Honey, while I look up some friendly home we can make the night in." The husband returned the baby to the shivering mother and strode off in to the gathering gloom.

"Bring Elvina to me Anthony!".the mother commanded, and soon her loving arms held both of her twin daughters, Elvina and Celina, six week old natives of that proud State of Tennessee.

Meredith Webb found warm hospitality awaiting him in the village and the little group was soon sheltered in the home of some kindly pioneer who remembered only too well the culmination of his pilgrimage a few years before.

Early the next morning money changed hands and Meredith Webb became the owner of a headright near the heart of Shelbyville. Scores of settlers drove in that day to see the new arrivals and to learn the belated news from Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, and even from as far away as the Carolinas.

On the second day ringing axes and hoarse shouts echoed throughout the village and in a twinkling many willing hands had fashioned and outfitted a crude log cabin in the style of that far distant era. Then Meredith and Charlotta Brown Webb gave a party for all the friendly workers and their families. Smoking venison and wild turkey fairly tested the strength of the boarded tables and cider flowed in the veins of the hardy company.

Seven years passed, Shelbyville grew and residents began to complain about crowded conditions and too many outsiders. One by one the wealthier families moved farther away, and Meredith Webb chose to build his new home on the dim trail leading due north toward a county that everyone agreed would someday be something.

This time the Webb home was more commodious, and it had to be, for it was to become the home of twenty-three children who would later call this patriot, "Pa". So the new home became popular over the country side, and there wasn't a better host or hostess from Nacogdoches to San Felipe De Austin than the Webbs.

Anthony, Jeff and Sarah, were grown now and Elvina and Celina were approaching their teens. A nameless babe slept back in Tennessee in an unmarked grave, but the others came on--- it seemed Charlotte Brown Webb was always having a baby. But they loved their babies and they wanted a full and happy home.

The year 1845 came and passed, Texas was now a State, a member of the union -- the great indivisible union that had glowed before the eyes of Meredith and Charlotta Webb even in their courting days in Tennessee.

For the first time in Texas, death came to the Webb home, and it took the loyal, tender mother away. Torn by his wife's passing and realizing that his children needed a woman's care, Meredith Webb immediately began to pay attention to a bevy of likeable belles who figured in the social life of Shelbyville.

Fate drew Meredith Webb to pretty Rebecca Snider as surely as the sun draws water and they were soon married after a whirlwind courtship that fairly took the breath away from the settlers. More children were born to this union and the Webb home became more than ever a gathering place for the country side.

Success and material wealth came in new measures to Meredith Webb, but sorrow was fast upon them. Gripped by sudden illness, his new bride of a few years died, and once more the sturdy father was faced with finding a maternal hand for his children. This time he married another pretty woman, though more mature, and she proved to be the blessing of his life.

Ellen Tamm was a frugal housewife and a good manager. She ran the planation for which it had grown to be, in fine style, and the years of plenty increased, along this time, however, the first rumblings of the silent southern planters began to make themselves heard. Slaves were essential to the cotton growers and the northern statesman frowned on this condition and demanded that the southerners free the Negroes and then reemploy them as individuals.

On January 15, 1872, a son was born they named James. He was a half brother to Celina, one of the twins born to Charlotta Webb. And we'll leave James and his mother and father at this juncture to take up the heroine of our story, Celina Webb, a daughter of the Republic.

We already know how Celina was handed down to her father by Charlotta Webb upon their arrival at Shelbyville. We can picture in our minds the sorrow that beset this young girl as she saw her mother lowered into the grave at the cemetery in Shelbyville and we can imagine the stern-jawed girl who rode back home to find herself the head of the motherless home.

When Meredith Webb married Rebecca Snider., Celina's responsibilities were lightened and she took part in the parties that were held in Shelbyville almost every Friday night. Her charm and beauty captivated the settlers and Celina Webb was the toast of a hundred beau guests who worshipped at her feet.

At the age of twenty, Celina was radiantly beautiful. Small of stature, probably a bare four feet nine or ten but her burnished gold hair and her laughing blue eyes sent many a gallant's heart to pounding. Especially did the heart of John Hamn skip a beat when he laid eyes on her first. He met her and received permission to call on his next trip to his father's planation in Louisiana.

John Hamn burned up the trail between Shelbyville and West Hamilton that spring and the next fall he won his heart's desire. They were married with the blessings of Meredith Webb and the groom took his fair bride to the new home he had built at Salem, a new community located on the line between Shelby and San Augustine County. Hamn's home was on the Shelby County side.

Celina set out to make her marriage a success from the first. Her training in Meredith Webb's home had prepared her well and she soon became one of the finest cooks in the territory. Her apple tarts were renowned clear to Mississippi; one traveler even vowed he had heard tell of them in Georgia, but, Celina always threatened him with a carving knife at this speech and declared he only said this to get another helping.

Shadows were failing fast upon the Southland, and the long arm of unrest reached even the home of the Hamn's. At evening time, sweaty farmers would tramp to the Hamn home and talk about succession, abolition and that Yankee called Lincoln.

Like, rising thunder and sharp lightning before a storm, strong resentment set the simple farmers around Salem afire with indignant restlessness, and the booming cannons at Fort Moultrie and Sumter were echoed by the fierce shouts that arose throughout East Texas. It was war. The Carolinas were embroiled, Virginia was smouldering, and a fiery Southerner Jeff Davis, was being enjoined by old West Pointers such as Lee and by horseman and campaigners as Jackson and Stuart.

One day John Hamn came home to his wife and new born babe with tears in his eyes. "Celina", he said solemnly, "I'm going to war". And Celina, the thoroughbred that she was, with the blood, of Meredith Webb pounding at her temples, clutched her child and bit her lips until the blood came. Her eyes were dry and her voice steady as she faced her husband. "Yes, John, I know you are going to war."

Many a home in the Southland was sad, but Celina's home was industrious and happy as any home with John gone to fight.

The days were not all dark, for there were times when the thunder. of hoofs could be heard and a man's heavy breathing as John Hamn walked in with a broad smile, handsome in his gray uniform and his black boots. Sometimes he rode for days without rest, and many times without food, to spend a few precious minutes with his wife and baby; then he would bid good bye and dash off again to join his command.

The first battle of Bull Run was past and with it the hopes of the Southland. The North won many battles which showed the slump of the South. Celina saw that her husband's face was more haggard and his visits less frequent than before, and her womanly intuition soon defined the cause; men were scarce and every John Hamm was needed at the front regardless of the aching hearts at home.

Then came Appomattox and Lee's surrender to General Grant on April 9, 1865. At the very minute he was offering his sword to have it gallantly refused by the officer in blue, Celina Hamn was crying her eyes out, for she knew that the end was near and that her husband, though back with her, would never be the same. He took the war too hard. He was wrapped up in the Confederate Cause, John Hamn came home a different man and his death soon followed. Celina bore up remarkably and devoted all of her time to her six children. She saw that her farm was going to ruin without a man's hand and it was with relief that she turned to her second lover, a fine man from Alabama, Andrew Butts.

From early childhood Celina had gone to the Salem Baptist Church and that was where she married Andrew Butts. The farm prospered again in spite of the rigors of reconstruction and Celina was happy when a daughter was born on the 30th day of October 1875, when Celina was only a few days past her forty-first birthday.

In the meantime, Meredith Webb had buried Ellen Tamm Webb and the aged settler had married his fourth and last wife, Mrs. Caroline McDonald, who had been the daughter of a very prominent planter named Carroll. Jeff Webb had died at the age of thirty leaving four children, and Anthony and Sarah had homes of their own.

James Webb, who was the son of Ellen Tamm Webb, was now well on the way to manhood, and he paid many visits to the home of his half sister, Celina Butts at Salem.

In 1883, the old Roman, Meredith Webb was finally struck down and his death occurred soon after the age of eighty. His passing was mourned in East Texas, and he was buried in the Methodist Church Cemetery at Center where the County seat had long since been removed.

By this time, Celina Butts was the best known woman in this section. Her husband, Andrew Butts, was widely known and respected too, and her daughter, Betty, was fast growing into the beauty that her famous mother had been twenty-five years before,

The years sped by and happiness and sorrow intermingled to fill out the married life of Celina and Andrew. Death came to the husband in 1914, Celina, now eighty, buried her husband at the Salem Cemetery and no longer able to stand the once-happy scenes of long ago, she moved to the home of her daughter, Betty,, who was now married to Jodie W. Wheeler, a well known Shelby County farmer.

Still striking in appearance and active far beyond her years, this daughter of the Republic set about to raise another brood of youngsters, these being her daughter's. whom she loved as her very own. She still made the very best apple tarts from Salem to Mississippi, and her wit and intellect were well. known every where in this region.

Until the age of ninety-five in 1929, this remarkable woman of a day and age this world will never see the like again, was active as any housewife in her forties. She finally gave way to the advance of a ripe old age and her cares and duties were lessened by her loving daughter.

Today this Daughter of the Republic has just celebrated her one hundredth birthday. Just a few days before her birthday, the writer of this piece visited the Jodie Wheeler home below Shelbyville. We had a camera along and as we drove up to the house. Betty Wheeler came out. We explained our mission and expressed the desire to obtain pictures of this Daughter of the Republic. The daughter assented and we waited a few minutes while she hastened to prepare her mother for the picture taking and the interview.

In a few minutes we stood spellbound in amazement as we beheld the celebrated woman who has spent all but six weeks of her one hundred years on Shelby County soil.. Her sight has almost failed and her hearing is dim, but her mind is as clear as the pictures she summons up from her past. With sublime goodness and patience she posed for our pictures and her good humor lasted through all of our blundering. She hugged James Webb and called him Jim. Her hands clapped together and she evidently showed pleasure as he placed a sack of oranges and apples in her hands.

Finally the time came to go. The writer stepped quietly over to the bed where the belle of old Shelbyville lay quietly in repose. Her hands were clutched about the sack of fruit and her face, even in advanced age, showed strength and beauty and grandeur. As she lay there in that quiet old house, it seemed that an unseen hand drew back an invisible curtain and the golden past lay unfolded in glamorous array. As the stillness' became more pronounced and the vision more clear, there came to the writer's ears the clatter of horse's hoofs and the heavy breathing of a gallant rider in gray as his spurs tinkled on the threshold and he swept a Daughter of the Republic into his strong arms.

NOTE: While the above story makes interesting reading, there are several mistakes. For instance, the twins Celina and Elvina (Levenia) were six years old, not six weeks. An interview with a 100 year old person must have been quite an experience. It was written in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of Shelby County, Texas. Check the records for accuracy.

She married (1) John G. HAMM on 28 Sep 1856 in San Augustine County, Texas.[37,38,39,40]
Listed as John G. Ham and Salina Webb in "Marriage Records of San Augustine County, Texas".

Elaine Bailey furnished the following program of the dedication of Celina's grave marker by the Daughters of the Texas Republic:

CALL TO REMEMBRANCE: Reba January James, President
William Carroll Crawford Chapter DRT

We have come today to pay respect to Celina Webb Butts, a staunch citizen of our Republic. “Remember today the years that are gone. Let us call to remembrance the great, the good - those who were honored in their generation.” Though we come to honor her memory, we ourselves are honored. Those, who, for a time have walked this way and who now have attained the Eternal Springtime of a Greater Land, have learned forever the beauty and truth of these words of Thomas Wolfe: “To lose the earth you know for greater knowing; to lose the life you have for greater life; to leave the friends you loved for greater loving; to find a land more kind than home, more large than earth - whereon the pillars of this earth are founded, toward which the conscience of this world is tending - a wind is rising and the rivers flow."

INVOCATION: Sue Smith, Chaplain

'0 Lord, from whom all good things do come; Grant to us, thy humble servants, that by thy holy inspiration we may think those things that are good, and by thy merciful guiding may perform the same; through our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen"

PRESENTATION OF COLORS: Girl Scout Troop #930

PLEDGE TO AMERICAN FLAG: Muriel Thames

PLEDGE TO TEXAS FLAG: Sue Nell Weaver

RESPONSIVE READING: Leader, Reba James
Combination of Psalms 23,121

UNISON: I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help.

LEADER: The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want..

UNISON: My help cometh from the Lord, which made Heaven and earth.

LEADER: He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He Ieadeth me beside the still waters.
UNISON: He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber.

LEADER: He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of rightousness for His name sake.

UNISON: Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber not sleep.

LEADER: Yea, thought I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

UNISON: The Lord is my keeper; the Lord is thy shade upon the right hand.

LEADER. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou annointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
UNISON: The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night.

LEADER; Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

UNISON: The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; he shall preserve thy soul.
UNISON: The Lord shall preserve thy going out and they coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore.

IN REMEMBRANCE: Wanda Ramsey

'God calls our loved ones, but we lose not Wholly what He hath given! They live on earth, in thought and deed, as truly as in His heaven.'

John Greenleaf Whittier

"Life is the soul's nursery----its training place for the destinies of eternity."

William M. Thackery

SCRIPTURE READING: I Thessalonians 4:13-18: Sue Smith, Chaplain

> "But I would not have you to be ignorant, bretheren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the arch-angel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words."

PRESENTATIONS:

BLUEBONNET: Rachel Parks, Granddaughter

"Our flower, the bluebonnet, is an emblem of the beauty of mind and spirit which enables the true character of our forefathers."
RED CANDLE: Sherry Parks, Granddaughter

"The glow of this red candle lights our pathway to worship and to rededication of our lives."

WHITE CANDLE: Elaine Bailey, Granddaughter

"'The glow of this white candle leads us down Memory's Pathway. As we commune may its beam warm our hearts and make us receptive to the meLodies of those who have gone before us.

BIBLE: Sue Gardner, Granddaughter

"The Bible is a window in this prison of Hope, through which we look into Eternity. It is open at Ecclesiastes 1:4, which says "One generation passes away, and another generation comes; But the earth abides forever."

SPECIAL TRIBUTES Dura Mae Rushing, Granddaughter

MUSKET SALUTE Ayish District Militia, San Augustine, Texas

PRESENTATION OF MARKER: Margaret Ann Hathom, Vice-President

"Our loved ones shall not altogether die
Even within the fading thoughts of men,
Or, where the inmost treasure lies, their hearts.
There is no last page on the calendar of service.
Good recreates itself in sequence infinite
Our voices quite, and our words subdued,
Exchange new lamps for old,
Cry evil down, sew fertile fields with good,
Our loved ones shall not altogether die." William Lamere

We offer this Ceremony of Remembrance as a memorial for Celina Webb Butts who passed from this life on earth, to life eternal.

We dedicate this Historic Marker, honoring her memory.

The influence of a dedicated, righteous, courageous life cannot be measured. It points the way to truth and to the beauty of living; always it lifts life upward, illuminating other lives, from life to life, even from generation to generation. Such a life is never extinguished. This is the immortality of the human heart.

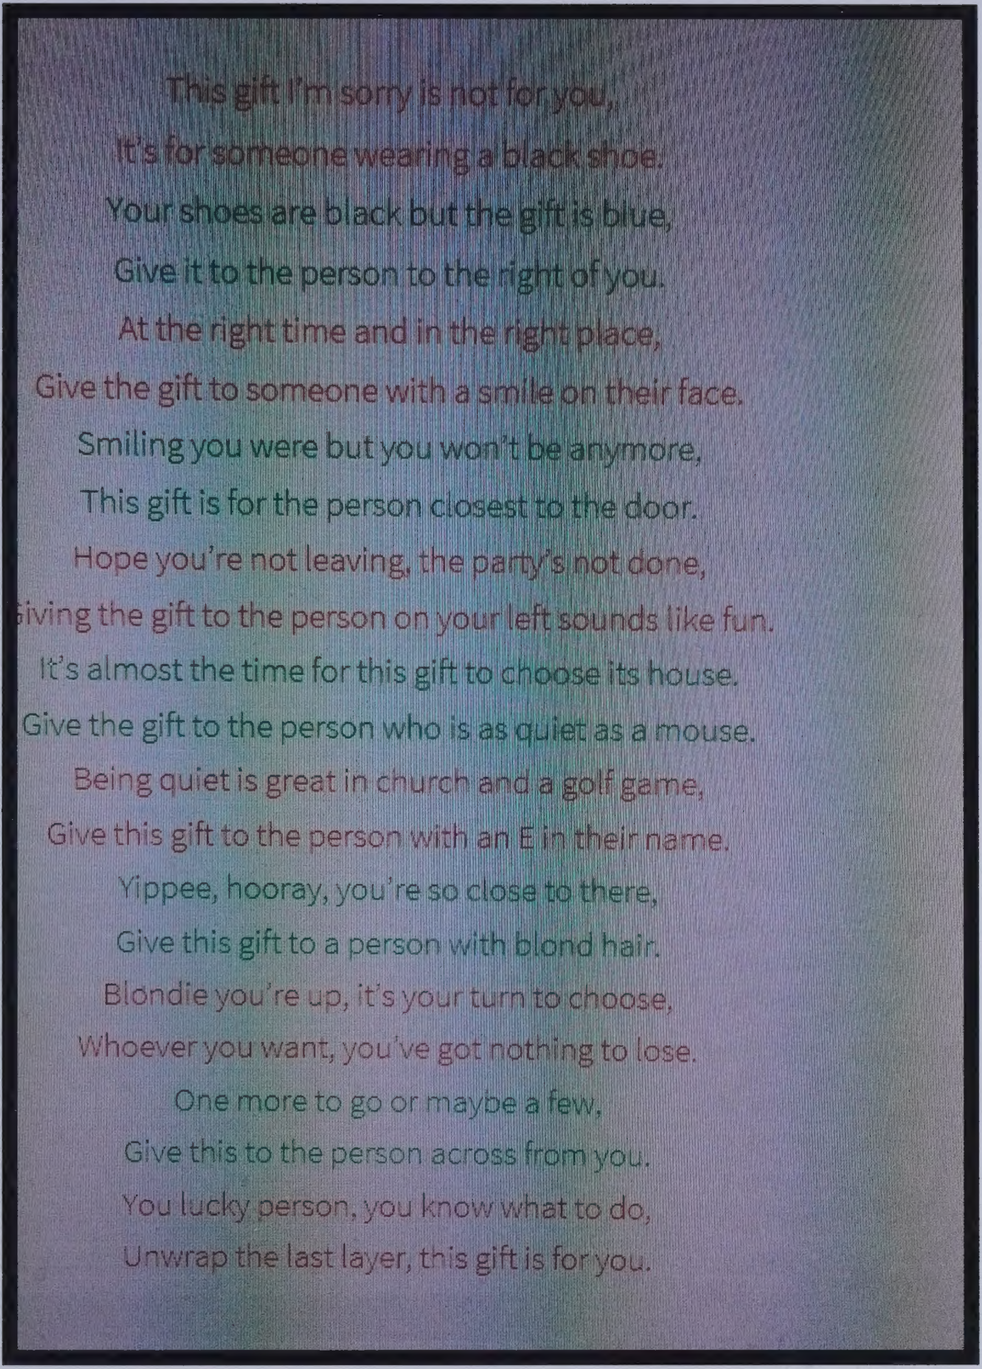
1920 United States Federal Census for



This gift I'm sorry is not for you,
It's for someone wearing a black shoe.
Your shoes are black but the gift is blue,
Give it to the person to the right of you.
At the right time and in the right place,
Give the gift to someone with a smile on their face.
Smiling you were but you won't be anymore,
This gift is for the person closest to the door.
Hope you're not leaving, the party's not done, iving the gift to the person on your left sounds like fun.
It's almost the time for this gift to choose its house.
Give the gift to the person who is as quiet as a mouse.
Being quiet is great in church and a golf game,
Give this gift to the person with an E in their name.
Yippee, hooray, you're so close to there,
Give this gift to a person with blond hair.
Blondie you're up, it's your turn to choose,
Whoever you want, you've got nothing to lose.
One more to go or maybe a few,
Give this to the person across from you.
You lucky person, you know what to do,
Unwrap the last layer, this gift is for you.
